Sublicensing of OHS Applications

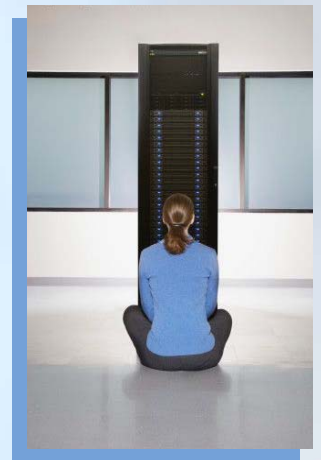

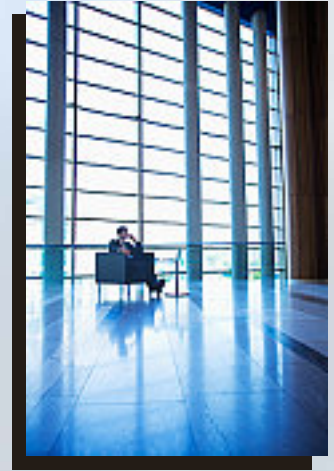

Companies of all sizes will now have the ability to utilize any of the Oracle Health Science applications without needing to worry about coming up with substantial upfront investment in Oracle licenses, or in-house maintenance of hardware and software. BioPharm Systems offers Oracle Clinical, RDC, Oracle AERS, TMS, and Siebel Clinical with flexible pricing models designed to meet the needs of large organizations, as well as the unique demands of fast-growing, emerging organizations.

This allows clients to pay for application licensing and maintenance costs over the life of the contract, at a discount, as opposed to a lump sum upfront payment during software procurement. BPO sublicensing can be offered either in conjunction with the SaaS (Software as a Service) model, or for implementation on client premises.

Some advantages to sublicensing:

- ⚡ Discounted license fees.
- ⚡ Monthly payments allow for easier cash flow planning

BioPharm Systems, a Certified Partner in the Oracle Partner Network, is among a select group of companies globally offering BPO sublicensing for Oracle's Health Science solutions. We are focused solely on Oracle's Health Science applications with over 14 years of extensive implementation and support experience, with over 150 clients in North America, Europe and Asia.
